

Undergraduate Research Assistant position available Fall Quarter

Stanford GSB researchers are looking for an Undergrad Research Assistant for the fall quarter. The hired research assistant will work on a variety of projects related to consumer psychology and decision-making. His / her responsibilities will include: testing online experiments, classifying videos and images, and assisting in the creation of stimuli.

Prior knowledge of psychology or behavioral economics is a plus, but not required, so is any experience with graphic design (e.g., Photoshop). If interested, please send (1) your CV and (2) a brief paragraph describing your relevant experience to Mohamed Hussein at mhussein@stanford.edu. The hourly rate for this position is $22.83/hour. This work can be done remotely.
